

TAMMANY SEEKS BIGGER SHARE IN PORT AUTHORITY

May Drop Fight on Miller's Harbor Proposal if City Can Name Commissioners.

HAS BILLS DRAFTED.

Will Be Presented To-day But
Likely to Be Held Up Till Plan Is Fairly Started.

(Special from a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Senator James J. Walker is the Upper House and Minority Leader Charles D. Donohue of the Assembly, to-day introduced amendments to the Meyer-Mastick Port Authority Bill, to give to the City of New York the appointment of at least two of the three New York members. The Board of Estimate would also be empowered to approve or reject the port authority plan.

The first part of the amendment was suggested by former Governor Smith in his defense of the plan on Tuesday, when he said that the only part of the plan in which he was not in accord with Gov. Miller was the appointment of the New York members. In his opinion the Board of Estimate should have the naming of them.

The Meyer-Mastick Bill is scheduled for a swift passage through both houses. It is going through as a party measure, though several Democratic members have already declared in its favor.

At the moment, with some members of the legislative committees inclined to favor a bill giving the city representation on the Authority Commission, Tammany has let its Senators and Assemblymen know they may follow their own inclinations when voting on the pending plan for harbor development.

The action of Walker and Donohue in offering their amendments to-day is taken to mean that Tammany, far from siding with Mayor Hylan in his demand for flat rejection of the Port Authority plan, will line up in support of it if the concessions demanded are granted. It was even indicated that the Democrats would not press for the right of the Hylan Administration to either reject or approve the plan if the appointment of two Commissioners were accorded.

While the Republican leaders are not disinclined to "let Tammany in at some future date," as one of them expressed it, they do not intend to grant concessions to the city until the plan has been adopted and put into operation. Once its ultimate establishment is assured, it is not unlikely the city will get representation on the Interstate Commission having the selection of sites, laying out of routes and the awarding of contracts.

Queens Borough Assemblyman Would Forbid One-Man Cars on New York Streets.

(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Feb. 2.—Here are some of the latest bills introduced by New York members, or of interest to New York City:

Senator James J. Walker and Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue have introduced bills to abolish the Council of Farms and Markets and the office of Commissioner of Agriculture and Commissioner of Foods and Markets, their powers and duties to be given to the Commissioner of Farms and Markets.

Senator Nelson W. Cheney of Erie would amend the banking law to allow a savings bank in New York City to open one branch office, providing it has the written approval of the Banking Superintendent.

Assemblyman George Jesse of New York wants a constitutional amendment increasing the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor from two to four years. Mr. Jesse also wants the constitution amended for a reconstruction of the State government and the establishment of a State budget.

Assemblyman Joseph Locatello of Queens wants the criminal courts act changed so that Special Sessions Court may be held by any one Magistrate where the offense charged is misdemeanor.

Mr. Locatello also wants to amend the railroad law to prohibit the operation by any street railway line of a car unless manned by a crew of at least two.

DENATURED ALCOHOL BECOMES MENACE

Bootleggers May Cause Revision of Government's Distribution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—Bootleggers throughout the country are evolving a new industry—the rectification of denatured alcohol—Prohibition officials said to-day, which probably will necessitate a complete revision of the Government's system of distribution.

Reports have been received, it was said, that some of the Government formulae for industrial alcohol lend themselves readily to rectification so that illicit liquor dealers are obtaining the denatured spirits under Government permits, ostensibly for use in the manufacture of barbers' supplies and toilet preparations, and by various processes rendering it more or less drinkable.

Revision of the permit system now in vogue is understood to be under consideration. Prohibition officials throughout the country are said to have been asked their opinions of the workings of the present system and are expected to submit to headquarters their suggestions for combating the industrial alcohol angle of the bootleg problem.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—There's a snicker here in National Guard circles over the invitation from the 71st Regiment of New York to Gov. Edward I. Edwards of New Jersey to review the regiment at the armory to-morrow night.

Gov. Miller was the last State Executive to conduct a review of the 71st, and it will be remembered that Lieutenant Col. Eben asked the Governor if he would have a "smile."

Lieutenant Col. George Burleigh of Gen. O'Hara's staff overheard the tempting offer and reported the transmission of rules to the proper authorities, and the report, at last accounts, was resting somewhere in a pigeonhole.

Gov. Miller is listed with the "drys" and Gov. Edwards is a well known "wet."

Will anybody ask the New Jersey Governor to have a "smile" the guardsmen are asking, and they wonder if, after the review, what will the Governor of New Jersey say to
